

We're turning off your electricity so that we can work safely on the local network

To the resident,

Thank you for your patience and understanding as we upgrade the electricity network for homes and businesses within your area. Temporary interruption to your electricity supply is critical for improving grid reliability, connecting new customers and keeping economic activity continuing in NSW.

We understand the added inconvenience with COVID-19 as more people work from home. That's why we are doing everything we can to reduce the length of the interruption during this difficult period.

Ausgrid will be temporarily interrupting your power supply to allow an Accredited Service Provider (ASP) Australian Power Services to install a new connection, connection upgrade or alteration.
